

ELLENOFF GROSSMAN & SCHOLE LLP

is pleased to announce the creation of a new practice group

LABOR & EMPLOYMENT PRACTICE GROUP

with the addition of new Firm Members

Amanda M. Fugazy Paul P. Rooney Adam C. Weiss

Amanda M. Fugazy, Paul P. Rooney and Adam C. Weiss, formerly of Fugazy & Rooney LLP, have a combined 40 years of experience representing clients in labor and employment law matters and have litigated virtually every type of employment claim. The EGS Labor & Employment Practice Group is founded with the goal of providing our clients with high-quality and efficient legal services by experienced labor relations and employment law attorneys. Our Labor & Employment Practice Group is dedicated to learning each client's industry and business objectives in order to formulate the appropriate legal and business strategies necessary to solve complex labor and employment issues, vigorously litigate cases, and counsel clients to avoid or minimize personnel problems that can result in costly litigation.

The EGS Labor & Employment Practice Group will cover a broad range of labor and employment needs, including litigating, arbitrating and mediating all types of labor and employment matters as well representing clients before administrative bodies such as the EEOC, New York State Division of Human Rights, NLRB and Department of Labor. Our Labor and Employment Practice Group also specializes in the drafting and negotiating employment contracts, employee handbooks and personnel policies, training management and other employees in risk management and handling the labor aspects of corporate transactions.
